This book made me cry
and it didn't make me lose hope

If you like non-fiction books, I really like because it's inspired from the reality and it's easy to get into the story. I liked it a little less at the beginning because it was slightly difficult to find the characters understand
So, this book it's for you!

The main character is Ali. She is a 19-year-old girl who is studying to become a veterinarian. But during a simple car ride, her life will be turned upside down. She has an accident that will cost her an arm.
From that moment on, she no longer has a taste for life, but a charming young man will come to turn her daily life upside down.

Going Solo

from the same author of "Willy Wonka" (or Charlie & the chocolate)
and the "Big Friendly Giant" (le Bon Gros Géant) and a lot of other stories.

The biography of Roald Dahl, a British man who is 22 years old.

"At the age of 22, Roald Dahl decided to go on a trip of 3 years to Africa where he will meet a lot of people and write their story. He will write of how he survived of planes crashes and snakes bites."

This book is mostly for adventure
and action readers.

This is a good book because it is based on real events from the past.

Strong points:
it is a very detailed story, even if it happened 30 years ago.

This book is full of exciting and scary
things - some funny,
some frightening, all
true.
